Building Safety and Security

In light of the recent tragic events in Traverse City and New York City we cannot overstate enough how very important the safety and security of everyone using the church building is to us.

Bethlehem utilizes a callbox system to gain access to the building for BUCC and a separate call-button for GroundCover. When entering the building—whether using the callbox system or if you are a keycard holder—please do not allow unknown individuals to enter with you.

“Piggyback” entering with anyone entering the building is not allowed. GroundCover individuals must use their call-button to notify GC of their arrival and not enter the building with others even if they are familiar to you. This helps ensure that each tenant, including Groundcover and others, has the ability to manage access to their own spaces and be aware of who is entering.

If approached, you can kindly say:
“I’m sorry, I can’t let you in. Please contact the person or organization you’re here to see so they can assist you.”

Thank you for your understanding and cooperation in helping to keep all those who use our building safe.
